Dominick (Dom) Paradise

Leadership Consultant

dparaside@alphachirho.org

This is our new Leadership Consultant Dominick Paradise. He is 23 years old and originally from Medford, New Jersey. He is a recent Graduate of the Epsilon Phi Chapter at Temple University, where he graduated from the College of Liberal Arts with a bachelor's degree in Criminal Justice.

Before going to college, Dominick was the youngest member of the Medford Lakes Lions Club International, where he was the club's chairperson of the annual Medford Lakes Canoe Carnival and helped in the flood relief after the major flood of Medford Lakes in the summer of 2004. He also headed a few other community service and fundraising programs while an active Lion.

While at Temple University he was involved with many different organizations, such as the photography club and the Temple bowling team. Within his Chapter he has held a few different positions such as: Postulant Educator, community service chair, fundraising chair, house manager and a few others. He has come to Alpha Chi Rho National Headquarters in hopes to better all the Chapters, and expand new ones throughout the country.

His favorite activities to do are traveling both nationally and internationally, laying by the pool, attending sporting events, playing basketball, golfing and hanging out with all his Fraternity Brothers. In his travels he has gone abroad with the People to People Student Ambassadors Program to Australia and New Zealand. He has also been to England, Spain and recently returned from Italy. While in Italy he was able to travel through southern regions, stopping in Sicily, Capri, and the Napoli region where his father's side of the family is originally from. In the future he plans to go back to school to study law.
